

REMARKS

The Primary Examiner is respectfully requested to approve the entry of the above amendments.

The amendments to the specification serve to correct typographical errors, grammatical errors and remove reference to the claims in the specification. Accordingly, it is readily seen that all of these amendments are merely of a formal nature and require no substantive work on the part of the Examiner with respect to this application.

The only change to the claims involves the deletion of a comma on the first line of the last paragraph of claim 1 for the sake of readability. Clearly no substantive changes are made with respect to the claims.

Because all of the above changes are simply of a formal nature, because they generally improve the form and content of the application, and because they require no additional substantive work on the part of the Examiner, it is submitted that entry of these amendments at this time is appropriate. Such entry is, accordingly, requested.

Respectfully submitted,

Junichiro HARA
